

Papperlapapp

Dear family,

Your child will receive the bilingual picture book magazine Papperlapapp in their last year of preschool. The individual issues are published in ten different language combinations. In preschool the magazines are read and discussed with the children in German and sometimes in other languages as well.

The copy of the magazine belongs to your child and can therefore be taken home. Read the stories with your child and discuss them in the language you feel most comfortable speaking. This will enable your child to understand the stories better and broaden their vocabulary.

The intimate atmosphere created while reading and the sense of closeness helps children feel secure. This in turn increases your child's self-confidence and enhances important skills that children also need in school.

We hope you enjoy reading Papperlapapp!
